Christian Memorial Fund Proposals are Adopted

The following proposals by the Board of Directors were unanimously adopted during a mass meeting of contributors Wednesday evening, November 7:

First: That the Christian Memorial Funds be used for the college education of the children of the late David A. Christian, III.

Second: Should the Christian Memorial Fund for some reason not be used for the education of the children of David A. Christian, III, then it is recommended that the fund be made available as a loan fund to medical, dental, or nursing students who are citizens of Appomattox County or adjoining counties.

Third: That the funds now on hand or that are later contributed be invested at the direction of the Board of Trustees in order that the funds might produce an income until such time that they are used as set forth in the first and second recommendation.

Dr. C. G. O'Brien, chairman of the Board of Directors, points out that an expression of the wishes of donors was necessary because of inadequacy of the funds collected for the original objective. Any donor, not concurring in the proposals of the Board of Directors as approved should call at the office of Dr. A. O'Brien or W. C. Dudley, treasurer, before December 1.

Postal Receipts Here Oft 13%

Postmaster E. LeRoy Smith, of Appomattox, Va., announced today local postal receipts from June 30 to October 19, 1956, were $12,-$98.33.

The June 30 to October 19 period represents the first 16 weeks of the Post Office Department's current financial or "fiscal" year.

The receipts in this community during this period represents a 13 per cent decrease from the corresponding period last year, the local postmaster reported.

Today's announcement from the local postmaster supplements information released in Washington November 27, 1956, by Acting Postmaster General Maurice H. Stans.

At that time Mr. Stans announced a new reporting service for the Post Office Department's national operations and receipts, based on its management control reports.

The Acting Postmaster General said he hopes the new information, which will be released periodically, "may prove to be another reliable and useful yardstick of the American economy."

While the Washington information covers postal operations on the national basis, the local postmaster said he hopes to supplement this service with similar periodic announcements on the local situation, so that it may be developed as one of the useful criteria of business activity and general economy in this community.

Meanwhile, in his report on national operations and receipts, Mr. Stans noted postal receipts for all 37,449 post offices in the nation, including the local office, for the period between June 30 and October 19, were $712.8 million.

This was an increase of $38.8 million over the same period of the last fiscal year, representing a 5.8 per cent boost.

Based on reports from larger post offices over the nation, Mr. Stans observed, a total of 12.7 billion pieces of mail were handled by these offices in the first 4-week periods (16 weeks) of this postal fiscal year. This was an average of 5.4 per cent increase this year compared with the same period a year ago.

And further, according to information from these larger offices, all classes of mail had increased in volume.

First class mail was up the most, about 6 per cent, followed by third class mail, up 4 per cent.

Parcel post showed the least increase, about 2 per cent.

Advisory Com. Meets

An advisory committee for the Distributive Education and Diversified Occupations programs will meet on Thursday, November 29, at 8:00 P. M., in the Conference Room at the Appomattox High School. The committee membership represents leading members in business, industry and service establishments as well as civic organizations of the community. The function of this committee is to counsel with and advise the coordinator with respect to improving the work training programs.

Preparing young people for employment is a cooperative enterprise shared by the school and the community. In order to assume its share of the obligation the school must know what the employers of the community need and desire. Before employers can enthusiastically support the work of the school, they also must know, what is being done. Advisory committees accomplish this by providing a link between the school and the community through which their activities are palnned and coordinated.

Mrs. Flood Heads Drive

Mrs. Joel W. Flood, of Appomattox, has accepted the chairmanship of the Woodrow Wilson Centennial Birthplace Restoration and Development Fund campaign in Appomattox County. This announcement was made by Thomas E. Hassett, Jr., of Staunton, the state campaign chairman.

"The campaign to raise $500,000 has been launched in order to insure the preservation of this national shrine for this and future generations.," Mrs. Flood explained. "Of the amount sought, $300,000 has been earmarked for endowment, since at present the Birthplace has no endowment. The balance of the goal, $200,000, is for the acquisition of the remainder of the original property and the construction on it of a building reminiscent of the barn which was there when Woodrow Wilson was born December 28, 1856. The proposed building would provide quarters for a Wilson museum, information center, and assembly hall.

It seems particularly fitting that in this Centennial Year of President Wilson, the public should be given an opportunity to honor this famous Virginian by preserving his birthplace," Mrs. Flood said. "Although many Americans have achieved world renown, President Wilson was the first to become a world leader. Citizens of Virginia may well take pride that he was a son of the Old Dominion."

Appomattox on Seedling List

Appomattox County has been selected as one of the four counties in Virginia to receive special help this year for reforestation. The pulp and paper industries are providing trees on a matching basis. For example, the landowner needs 10,000 trees. He pays for 5,000, and the industries pay for the remainder. There is no limit to the number of trees a landowner can secure. Landowners may not have this opportunity again in their lifetime, County Agent Jim Smith told reporters today.

Application forms can be secured from any of the agricultural agencies or from stores where you may see a pine seedling in a can stating "Plant More Trees." Orders should be submitted early to insure delivery.

The Appomattox High School Blue Hornets will open their 1956-57 basketball schedule when they meet Nelson County High School here Tuesday night at 7:30 o'clock, in both boys and girls games. This will be a Group Two District Four league game.
